of the Internet

Frogans addresses are going live and public soon

On June 14, 2016, a major step in the roll-out of Frogans addresses will be completed with their resolution on the Internet.

This will be the last step before the global launch, scheduled on October 11, 2016, when Frogans sites will be opened to the general public.

Frogans addresses give access to new Internet content

Frogans sites are a new way of communicating on the Internet. They will reach users on all their devices with innovative creative features. For example, a Frogans site can match the shape of a brand logo, a product, or an industrial design.

Just like Web sites, Frogans sites can be published by anyone, from individuals to businesses, including trademark holders. They will be searched for, using existing search engines.

Frogans sites are not intended to replace existing Web sites, but rather to offer an alternative, complementary way to publish content securely on the Internet.

Your product is not square,
why is your website?

Your Frogans site can match
the shape of your product.

Frogans addresses come with commonly-used RPMs

A secure legal environment has been set up to bring safety to brands.

RPMs include:

- The availability of a Whois database (whois.fcr.frogans)
- The UDRP-F (Uniform Dispute Resolution Policy for Frogans Addresses) and its Rules, which are currently administered by:
 - FORUM
 - ADNDRC
- The Frogans Address Composition Rules which restrict the availability of certain name variations, reducing the prevalence of phishing and typosquatting

The security, stability, and reliability of Frogans addresses is also ensured by the innovative use of the “frogans” TLD.
